

Reimagining Business Communications

GlobalMeet®, a new generation unified communications (UC) platform, helps our customers create connections with their employees, customers and shareholders. GlobalMeet provides a rich feature set including a cloud-based business phone system, text messaging, chat and HD video and web conferencing. Built on our collaboration heritage, we simplify and unify your users' experience and improve their productivity with a single intuitive platform.

One Intuitive Platform, One User Experience

GlobalMeet delivers a unified user experience to drive the digital transformation of communications. Whether users want to check their calendar, message with a co-worker, start a meeting, make a phone call or perform any other business communications task, they can use the intuitive GlobalMeet platform with a consistent experience across all devices.

Improve Productivity, Giving Users Back Time

GlobalMeet's superior collaboration capabilities backed by our customer service excellence supports a successful implementation and high user adoption. We improve users' productivity by providing communication streams with prioritized action items. With next steps clearly defined, users can avoid any distractions and become more efficient, giving back time in their workday.
